4

It may seem to you that I and everyone at MPI know everything there is to know about atmospheric science…

but there are many unexplored questions in the field, and one person who knows best how to answer unexplored questions:

Sherlock Holmes!

It may seem to you that I and everyone at MPI know everything there is to know about atmospheric science…

but there are many unexplored questions in the field, and one person who knows best how to answer unexplored questions:

Sherlock Holmes!

Seriously:

"It is a capital mistake to theorize before one has data. Insensibly one begins to twist facts to suit theories, instead of theories to suit facts."[1]

[1]Doyle, A. C. A Scandal in Bohemia, Strand Magazine, 1891.